From

To

Sir K. Sheshadri Iyer, K.C.S.I
Dewan of Mysore

Sir,

With the concurrence of my colleagues, I have the honor to make the following representation for the favorable consideration and orders of Government.

2. In section 222 (a) of the Mysore Service Regulations, it is stated that an Officer on leave on medical certificate is entitled to half his "average salary" for the first fifteen months and for the rest of his leave a quarter of his "average salary," and that an Officer on furlough or on leave on private affairs is entitled to half his "average salary"; but section 223 limits half "average salary" to a maximum of Rupees 500 a month and one quarter average Salary to a maximum of Rupees 400 a month.

3. In British India, the leave allowances sanctioned for Native Civil Servants are reckoned on an "average Salary", the maximum of which is fixed at Rupees 1400, so that half "average Salary" and one quarter "average Salary" are reckoned on the said maximum.

Vide Art 627 Sec 1 of British Service Regulations 2nd Edition

4. In the case of the Judges of the Chartered High Courts in India and Judges of the Chief Court of Punjab, the leave allowances are still more liberal. It would, indeed be hard to apply section 22 (a) of the Mysore Service Regulations to Judges of the Chief Court, as the maximum half average is fixed at the very low rate of Rupees 500, which, in the case of a Chief Judge, would be only one-fourth and in the case of the Judges one-third of their pay. I do not think it was intended to apply such a low scale to Officers drawing Salaries exceeding Rs 1200 a month, and I beg, therefore to

When on leave on Medical Certificate the Judges of the British High Courts are entitled only to 2/3rds of their average Salary of Rs 3750 per mensem. This is less than one fourth Salary. Vide Art 600 Rule 13. Note

As he has leaned on Furlough or on private leave

The limit can affect & was therefore intended to affect only persons on high Salaries.

to suggest that the maximum fixed by the rule may either be increased or the rule itself altered, so as to admit of the half "average Salary" or one quarter "average Salary" being not less than half or one quarter of the "average Salary" for the month calculated for so much of the three years immediately preceding the day on which the Officer proceeds on leave, following the definition of "average Salary" given in Section 12 of the Mysore Service Regulations.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

[illegible]

Chief Judge.

Our leave & Pension rules certainly require revision — We must have a separate set of rules for all officers above the rank of an asst Comr, & another set for others — The best way would be to appoint a Committee consisting of —

1 Comptroller —
2 The Chief Judge of the Chief Court —
3 Col Grant
4 one Dy Comr of Coorg, say Ranga Rao Iyengar —
5 One Counsellor —

The Government observe that the leave and pension rules now in force in My require consolidation and revision and it is desirable of rules for all officers above the rank of Assistant Commissioners and another set for those who are below them is desirable. The best way of arriving at a decision for framing such rules would be to appoint a Committee and to ask them to submit their proposals on the Subject.

The following letter No. 1274—34, dated 20th March 1893, from the Chief Judge of Mysore :—

With the concurrence of my colleagues, I have the honor to make the following representa-on for the favorable consideration and orders of Government.

2. In Section 222 (a) of the Mysore Service Regulations, it is stated that an Officer on leave medical certificate is entitled to half his "average salary" for the first fifteen months and for e rest of his leave a quarter of his "average salary," and that an Officer on furlough or on leave private affairs is entitled to half his "average salary;" but Section 223 limits half "average lary" to a maximum of Rs. 500 a month and one quarter "average salary" to a maximum of s. 400 a month.

3. In British India, the leave allowances sanctioned for Native Civil Servants are reckoned an "average salary," the maximum of which is fixed at Rs. 1,400, so that half "average salary" nd one quarter "average salary" are reckoned on the said maximum.

4. In the case of the Judges of the Chartered High Courts in India and Judges of the Chief ourt of Panjab, the leave allowances are still more liberal. It would, indeed, be hard to apply ection 222 (a) of the Mysore Service Regulations to Judges of the Chief Court, as the maximum alf average is fixed at the very low rate of Rs. 500, which, in the case of a Chief Judge, would e only one-fourth and in the case of the Judges one-third of their pay. I do not think it was ntended to apply such a low rate to Officers drawing salaries exceeding Rs. 1,200 a month, and beg, therefore, to suggest that the maximum fixed by the rule may either be increased or the ule itself altered, so as to admit of the half "average salary" or one quarter "average salary" be-ng not less than half or one quarter of the "averag salary" for the month calculated for so nuch of the three years immediately preceding the day on which the Officer proceeds on leave ollowing the definition of "average salary" given in Section 12 of the Mysore Service Regula-ions.

(2) 2nd Judge of the Chef Court,

(3) 3rd Judge of the Chef Court,

(4) Inspector General of Forests,

(5) Inspector General of Police,

(6) Excise Commissioner

on the same footing as that of the Statutory Civians, the maximum average salary may be raised to Rs. 1,400 vide Article 627, Section 1, British India Civil Service Regulations : the number of Officers that will be benefited by this concession will be 10.

2. The analogy of Judges of British Courts is not favorable as the proportion is only $\frac{2}{9}$ths of Rs. 3,750, i. e., Rs. 833—5—4 a month for the whole period of leave.
